NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

SECRETARY WINDOM has reinstated G. G.

Rosen, examiner, and Peter Twamley and Isaac W. Cole, samplers, in the sugar room of the New York Custom House, whom Secretary

Fairchild had dismissed on charges. The charges were fictitious, the real offense being too much Republicanism.

AFTER President Harrison has finished his visit to Secretary Blaine at Bar Harbor in August, he will go to Indianapolis to take part in the laying of the corner stone of the soldiers' monument. Mrs. Harrison will accompany him to her recent home. The entire month of September will probably be passed in the mountains of Maryland.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN received $20,000 yesterday as his share of the stake money in the late prize fight, and also the champion belt which he derives as a "dog collar." He was to leave for Boston this morning. He will be in danger there, as Gov. Ames will extradite him if Gov. Lowry calls for him. He has been safe while in this state.

A RUMOR has reached Nashville and Washington that Mrs. David Heron of Jonesboro,

Tenn., has been sentenced to death in Korea for teaching Christianity. The United States

Minister at Seoul has been instructed by the State Department to investigate the matter and secure her release if possible. The friends of the lady do not credit the report.

HUGH CALLAM, a war veteran, hanged himself in New York yesterday. He was employed by the Department of Public Works, and when Tammany took possession was assessed 50 cents on each pay day. He refused to pay the second assessment and was discharged. Despondency followed his loss of work. He was a Grand Army man.

PIG-IRON production in the United States during the first six months of 1889 was 4,107,899 tons, against 3,382,503 tons in the same months of 1888. This is the largest six months' production in the history of the trade. The increase was most marked in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Alabama and the Vir-ginias. There were 502,934 gross tons unsold on the 30th of June, against 300,144 tons at the same date last year. There has been an abnormally large production at the South, and the market is overstocked.

CONGRESSMAN BROWER of North Carolina puts an end to the silly rumor that he and other Southern Republicans are going over to the Democrats by declaring that he has never had a thought of bolting. They are all looking for good places on the committees, a very proper ambition, but not one of them has aspirations for the Speakership.

Democrats who are looking for some dishonorable act by Republican Representatives are going to be disappointed.

In the Idaho constitutional convention the Republicans are fighting for the exclusion of professing Mormons from the suffrage, on the ground that they subordinate their state allegiance to that of the church. The Democrats, on the contrary, are fighting to give the Mormons the same rights as other citizens. If this were to prevail the Mormons would soon colonize in Idaho sufficiently to rule the state. It is a little singular that the experience of the Democratic party with slavery taught it nothing.

THOMAS A. EDISON testified before the referee in the Kemmler inquiry in relation to execution by electricity yesterday. He described numerous experiments, and gave the opinion that death could be caused instantly and painlessly by the alternating current. Edison is the highest living authority on the subject of electricity, but all the same the effec-cy and reliability of the system for killing men can only be ascertained from actual experiment. Scoundrels contemplating murder had better wait till they learn more about the process of execution.

LEVI SIEGEL, a poor man of Trenton, N.

J., left his family three weeks ago in search of work, and on Saturday his wife followed

him, taking her oldest child and leaving four very small ones alone in the house. Among the creditors who gathered around the domicile was Mrs. Schilling, whom Mrs. Siegel owed $35. She took the children home with her, saying she would hold them as security till the debt is paid. The good woman may not realize on her debt in this way very fast, but she has the satisfaction of saving the children from starvation.

LAST Sunday a squad of Jersey City police was sent to the base ball grounds to prohibit a game that had been arranged between the Jersey City's and Worcester's. The officers stood and looked on until the game was ended, and then arrested all of the participants, who were subsequently brought into Court and fined $2 each. Devotion to duty did not prevent the policemen from enjoying the game. There is as much human nature in these officers as in Gov. Lowry of Mississippi, who waited to see who whipped before taking measures for the arrest of Sullivan and Kil-

rain.

THE Tribune, in an article which we copy

elsewhere, states the position of the entire

Republican party on the "enumeration" or census question. If the Governor should call the Legislature together a hundred times, the party would expect it to meet and adjudge upon the state. We shall know all about the population next year, and the appointment can wait till 1895. The people are getting better state government than they would ever realize again if an appointment were made that would put Hill's whisky party in permanent control of the Legislature.

BISHOP SKYMOUR of Illinois, who was married at Trinity church, New York, yesterday, to Mrs. Harriet A. Aymer, is well known in this city, as he is an uncle of Mrs. Taylor, wife of a former pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit. He has also been the pastor of churches in Hudson and Annan-dale, and was the founder and for several years the Warden of St. Stephen's college at the latter place. He is sixty years old and was supposed to be a confirmed bachelor.

His example will be approved, as it vind-

icates him from the suspicion of a preference

for celibacy as one of the results of his high church views. Mrs. Aymer was the widow of a wealthy New York gentleman who died

about six years ago.

Documents of the League.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 24.—At to-day's session of the Parnell Commission, J. Maloney, an ex-

official of the Land League, was examined.

He denied all knowledge of all documents

concerning the League except those in the hands of Mr. Lewis, Mr. Parnell's solicitor.

Mr. Maloney said Mr. Parnell was in error

when he stated that he—Maloney—upon leaving the country ordered that the documents in his possession should be destroyed.

A number of documents belonging to the Land

League were removed from the house in

Blessing-street, Dublin, where Mr. Sexton lived in 1882. His [Maloney's] wife was empowered to draw League checks. He could not say why she was thus empowered except that the Ladies' League, of which she was Treasurer, was assisting in the work of the Land League.

Mr. Miller, of the National Bank, testified that no Parnellite ever suggested to him that the checks and bank books of the League should be destroyed.

CLEVELAND, O., July 24.—Cleveland opponents of the Standard Oil Company in the Ohio gas and oil fields say the big trust is certainly engaged in an effort to buy control of the natural gas fields of Ohio and Indiana.

Dr. Baxter, of Lima, is the owner of a large amount of territory in the Lima neighborhood, and he is one of the latest to sell out to the new combination. Dr. Baxter is now in the East with Colonel Calver, S. B.

Brice, who has been prominently identified with Standard Oil affairs. The move on the part of the Standard was brought about by the decision of the Edison is the highest living authority on the subject of electricity, but all the same the efficacy and reliability of the system for killing men can only be ascertained from actual experiment. Foundrels contemplating murder had better wait till they learn more about the process of execution.

LEVI SIEGEL, a poor man of Trenton, N. J., left his family three weeks ago in search of work, and on Saturday his wife followed

him, taking her oldest child and leaving four

very small ones alone in the house. Among

the creditors who gathered around the domi-

cil was Mrs. Schelling, whom Mrs. Siegel owed $35. She took the children home with her, saying she would hold them as security till the debt was paid. The good woman may not realize on her debt in this way very fast,

but she has the satisfaction of saving the

children from starvation.

LAST Sunday a squad of Jersey City police went to the base ball grounds to prohibit a game that had been arranged between the Jersey City's and Worcester's. The officers stood and looked on until the game was ended, and then arrested all of the participants, who were subsequently brought into Court and fined $2 each. Devotion to duty did not prevent the policemen from enjoying the game. There is as much human nature in these officers as in Gov. Lowry of Mississippi,

who waited to see who whipped before taking

measures for the arrest of Sullivan and Kil-

rain.

THE Tribune, in an article which we copy

elsewhere, states the position of the entire

Republican party on the "enumeration" or census question. If the Governor should

call the Legislature together a hundred times, the party would expect it to meet and adjourn without action. An enumeration at this time would be an absurdity and an outrage upon the state. We shall know all about the population next year, and the apportionment can wait till 1895. The people are getting better state government than they ever realized, again if an apportionment were made that would put Hill's whisky party in

permanent control of the Legislature.

BISHOP SNEYD of Illinois, who was married at Trinity church, New York, yesterday, to Mrs. Harriet A. Aymer, is well known in this city, as he is an uncle of Mrs.

Taylor, wife of a former pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit. He has also been the pastor of churches in Hudson and Annandale, and was the founder and for several years the Warden of St. Stephen's college at the latter place. He is sixty years old and was supposed to be a confirmed bachelor.

His example will be approved, as it vind-

icates him from the suspicion of a preference

for celibacy as one of the results of his high church views. Mrs. Aymer was the widow

of a wealthy New York gentleman who died

about six years ago.

What Maloney Had to Say Concerning

Documents of the League.

LONDON, July 24.—At today's session of

the Parnell Commission, J. Maloney, an ex-

official of the Land League, was examined.

He denied all knowledge of all documents

concerning the League except those in the hands of Mr. Lewis, Mr. Parnell's solicitor.

Mr. Maloney said Mr. Parnell was in error

when he stated that he—Maloney—upon

leaving the country ordered that the documents in his possession should be destroyed.

A number of documents belonging to the Land

League were removed from the house in

THE GROWTH OF POPULATION.

The decline of European immigration to the United States cannot be due to any natural cause, for the population of the old world is increasing very rapidly, and the crowding process becomes yearly more and more unpleasant. And yet we have the figures from the proper authorities on the subject, which show that the numbers who landed on our shores during the first six months of 1889 were 66,000 less than during the same months in 1888. We have a law against immigration under contract which probably keeps some thousands away; the sending back of the worthless and otherwise objectionable ones operates as a deterrent upon others of their class, but the main cause is undoubtedly the thorough attention that is being given to assisted emigration. We may never know the immense proportion of immigrants who were sent here through the assistance of their governments in the years when all were welcome, but resolute adherence to the rule that no assisted emigrant shall land in the United States will probably reduce the volume of arrivals 30 and perhaps 50 per cent.

We are getting near the time when it will be necessary to assert and defend the principle of "America for Americans." It is 270 years since the ancestors of many of us landed at Plymouth, and it does not seem a great while ago. The men who opened the country to settlement were the grandfathers of our grandfathers, and it is easy to trace our descent back to and beyond them. Now what will be the condition of the United States in relation to population an equal number of years hence, or before the men of this generation are forgotten by their descendants? This question has vital reference to the subject of immigration.

Dr. Wilford Hall presents some estimates of the growth of population which are certainly startling, in the Microcosm, of which he is editor. He points to the fact that the population of this country has doubled once in every twenty-five years since the Declaration of Independence, and calculates that an equal ratio of gain is to continue. This will give the country 100,000,000 people in 1900. In 1925 there will be 200,000,000 people. In 1950 there will be 400,000,000 people. In 1975 there will be 800,000,000 people. In 2000 there will be 1,600,000,000 people. Now carry this process forward still another century, or till the year 2100, which is a shorter period from the present than that of settlement by our forefathers, and the result is 32,000,000,000 people. As the entire area of the United States, including Alaska, is 3,596,539 square miles, this would give a population of 7,120 to every square mile of the country's surface, including mountain, forest and desert. The most thickly populated country on the globe, Belgium, has 520 people to the square mile, while England has 485 and Germany 221. If the present ratio of increase in the United States is maintained, therefore, during the next two hundred years, or for a shorter period than has elapsed since the settlement of New York or New England, there will be hardly standing room, without taking into consideration the question of areas of land devoted to the production of means of subsistence.

The population of England doubles once 51 years, and of Germany once in 47 years. These ratios are maintained with America ready to receive the surplus. If the doors of this continent were shut against them their ratio would increase, while ours would correspondingly decrease. Unless this is done, the grandchildren of the present generation will see the country so crowded as to cause frequently recurring famines and plagues, and a social condition like that of Ireland.

We repeat that it will soon be time to give serious attention to the question of immigration and of trying to preserve standing room for our grandchildren and their children.

THE PESTIFEROUS RED ANT.

I have found by experience that the little red ants cannot travel over wool or rag carpet. I covered my floor with coarse burl, set my sofa on that, and have not been troubled since. Put a sack in your closet or pantry with flannel, set whatever you wish to keep from the ants on it, and they will at once disappear. I have tried it.—Scientific American.

The lady who banished red ants from her pantry last spring by sprinkling her shelves plentifully with salt was compelled to repeat the process a week ago because the ants or their heirs had returned. The salt was as generously laid on as before, and the ants were again banished. The flannel may bother their feet for a time, but in a little while, as the nap becomes pressed down or leveled up with dust, they will learn to walk over it. It is cheaper and easier to furnish a new supply of salt than of flannel.

HANGMAN'S DAY IN NEW YORK.

Ferdinand Carolin and Charles Gillin were yesterday sentenced to be hanged August 23 in the Tombs prison. Carolin hacked his wife to death with a hatchet in Stanton street, March 15, 1888. Gillin killed Mrs. Madeline Goetz, wife of a baker in West Houston street, February 15, 1888, because a five dollar counterfeit bill which he tried to pass upon her was detained by her husband. The latter had received two shots, when his wife stepped before him and received a fatal wound.

Several weeks ago three other murderers were sentenced to be hanged on the same day. They are John Lewis, colored, who killed Alice Jackson, James Nolan, who killed Emma Buck for refusing to support him, and Patrick Pakenham, who cut out his wife's throat. There is another murderer awaiting sentence, "Handsome" Harry Carlton who shot Policeman Brennan for trying to break up a drunken row, but as his victim was a man, it may be that the Judge did not wish to degrade him by swinging him off with a quint of women murderers. He may be given a day to himself exclusively.

It is stated that the hanging of five murderers will give Sheriff Grant a hard day's work, as there is room in the Tombs for hanging only three at a time. Unless the Governor interferes with the date he will have to hang them in two groups. The Governor is opposed to the labeling of Friday as hangman's day, and will undoubtedly grant a few days' respite. But have we not here an explanation of the cheapness and safety of murder in New York? If only three can be hanged in a day, it is not surprising if Justice should fail to "keep up with the procession."

It is perhaps a matter to be regretted that the execution-by-electricity law was not adjusted to meet these cases. The killing of five men by a single shock would end the dispute forever. The importance of the object would almost justify the Governor in calling the Legislature together in extra session. If the law is to be tested by experiment, a gang of woman murderers would be the fittest subjects that could be selected to try it upon. In this crowd Klemmer of Buffalo could also be properly included. It would be less cruel to subject them to the risk of torture than a harmless old horse, dog or cat, that never killed anything.

HILL AND AN ENUMERATION.

A Plain and Comprehensive Statement of the Republican Position on the Question.
From the New York Tribune.
It was given out a few days ago that Governor Hill intended to convene the Legislature in extra session with a view to having a Census bill passed. The Albany Times, which may be regarded as one of the Governor's intimate organs, denies the rumor, which on its face was absurd. The Republican majority in the Legislature of 1885, respecting a mandate of the Constitution, passed an adequate Census bill. This measure corresponded with the one of 1875, which was signed by Governor Tilden. Nevertheless, Governor Hill for purely partisan reasons vetoed it, thus defying the Constitution and the popular will, and preventing the readjustment of the Senate districts. It is doubtful if ever before was so much of the veto power as in the hands of one man. The bill which was vetoed by Governor Hill was a measure which would conform to the regular session of 1885 the Governor called an extra session, his aim being to coerce the legislative branch of government into passing a Census bill which would commend itself to the judgment of the majority of the Senators and Assemblymen, but which would conform to his own selfish wishes. It is unnecessary to say that he failed.

Ever since 1885 the Governor at frequent intervals has returned to the census question only to realize the truth of the old saying, "If you will not when you can then you cannot when you will." The Republican party, through its chosen Representatives in the Legislature, did its whole duty in 1885, and on that record it rests. The bill which was vetoed in that year is doubtless the bill which would be passed if an extra session was called, in case the majority concluded to take up the subject at all. But what would be the use of passing that bill? Has the Governor repented of him of his veto of 1885? Would he not use it now as he used it then to prevent an enumeration of the inhabitants of the State from being taken?

In case the extra session were called the majority might refuse to do anything except adjourn. The great comprehensive National Census is to be taken next year, so that there is not the popular interest in the State enumeration that there was in 1885. Besides, on the score of economy the taking of the State Census of 1885 in 1890 is to be objected to. If taken this year New York would have to bear the entire expense. But in 1885 the General Government would have devoted $120,000 to that object. So on the whole we suspect that the Governor will not convene an extra session, which would cost good many thousands of dollars, on the chance of gaining nothing by it except the reaffirmation of the fact that he put his foot in it in 1885.

TWO FISHING SEASONS.

Mr. Cleveland in 1889 and 1888-A Nibble and Longer a National Event.
[From the Boston Gazette.]
What a difference! This summer Mr. Cleveland goes fishing without exciting any interest regarding where he fishes, what fish he catches, and how many fish he has caught. Last summer the industrious reporter was kept in a constant state of excitement over the matter, in order to minister to a supposed eagerness on the part of the public to be minutely informed as to Mr. Cleveland's piscatorial triumphs and failures. Now he may fish from sunny morn to dewy eve unharmed and unobserved—in fact, unnoticed. And yet it is the same man, bent upon the same sport, in exactly the same way. It would be interesting to know what the result of these conditions Mr. Cleveland would prefer to fish. Last year he was anxious to lure the finny dwellers of the deep to his hook far from the maddening crowd. He can do so this year in perfect security, and the change must strike him as an emphatic confirmation of the mutability of human affairs and of the ephemeral nature of fame.

A Large Sum Drawn in a Lottery—Contested Land Claim Decision in Oklahoma—What General Boulanger & Co. Have "Discovered"—Movement of Russian Troops.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times writes: "The largest sum ever won in an Austrian lottery has fallen to a resident in Vienna, whose name is not yet known, but who claims to have won 480,000 florins, about $38,000, in a State lottery drawn in Temesvar on Saturday. The fortunate gambler invested in what is called the Small Loto, an institution which keeps open office in every town, and is very popular with the lower classes. The lucky merely consists in backing a number, and the sum is small, as small as 20 kreutzers, or five pence, may be staked. The winner of Saturday, however, who is described as an elderly-dressed young man of about 30, staked from 1,500 florins to 2,000 florins, in backing five numbers, and 10 different combinations of those numbers, his stake on each single number being 10 florins. He stood to win or lose all on the chance of all his figures turning up in the order chosen by him. It is expected that all his combinations were drawn, and he became entitled to win 48,000 florins on each of his 10 rows of five figures. As the tickets were bought in Vienna, the Government will have to pay the money, although the lottery was drawn in Hungary. The largest sum paid before for a single win in the Small Loto was 30,000 florins, and the amount of the present win has, of course, rendered it impossible for the lottery office in Vienna to cash the tickets on presentation, as is generally done. The money will have to be obtained in a special credit from the Ministry of Finance. The event has, of course, occasioned great excitement in Vienna, and is not likely to diminish the popular fancy for lottery movements."

"We have disclosed," says General Boulanger, Count Dillon, and M. Rochefort in their manifesto, to reply to the absurd calumnies concocted by Ministers who have been convicted of peculation. Our abstention from this odious comedy is now justified by the indignant repulsion of attempts to extort from officers of the army lying denunciations of their former chief. These suborners of witnesses have not hesitated to employ the tax payers' money to obtain false depositions from jail birds in their very cells at Mazas. These are the miserable prevaricators who accuse their former Minister of War with corruption. Public disgust has already condemned, and the justice of the country will speedily overtake these malefactors. They appealed to the Penal Code, but the outcome of their infamous machinations was that they could bring absolutely nothing against us. If they could have obtained this, they would have proved that they had risked the Assize Court by negotiating with forgers. It is for you, dear fellow-countrymen, to judge between these thieves. We wait with confidence your sentence, from which these bandits, who feel their approach, vainly endeavor to escape."

J. Lill, Register, and J. Barnes, Receiver, of the Land Office in Guthrie, O. T., have rendered a decision in the first claim contest case in Oklahoma. The evidence in the case showed that there were three claimants in the quarter-section adjacent to the Santa Fe Railroad right-of-way opposite Oklahoma City. The first was Deputy United States Marshal White, who was on the ground in his official capacity at noon the day Oklahoma was opened, and he staked his claim at 12:01 p. m. C. J. Blanchard was an employee of the company. At noon he stepped on the quarter and drove his stake. Vestal Cook was in the Chickasaw Nation at noon, but with four confederates who supplied him with relays of horses, he reached the quarter-section at 1 o'clock and asserted his claim. Messrs. Lill and Barnes held that all of the persons named violated the laws governing the occupation of the lands by homesteaders; that none of them are entitled to the quarter in question, and that they have forfeited all rights to take and hold homesteads in the Indian Territory.

The New York Sun says: "Observations of the stars were made in Babylon from remote antiquity, and careful records kept of eclipses. Some of the Babylonian astronomical statements refer to the capture of Nineveh in 606 B. C. The ancient Babylonians believed that the changes which occurred in the sky were simply a reflection of what was going on in this world; for instance, if any event took place upon the earth during the conjunction of two stars, when the conjunction occurred again it would signify a sign that the same event was again occurring upon earth. The priests therefore foretold the future by observing the conditions of the heavenly bodies and referring to their records to know what terrestrial events were bound to accompany them. Copies of these lists of omens from which the predictions were made have come down to us. The Babylonians also believed in the existence of a cosmical year, consisting of 360,000 ordinary years, at the end of which all past events were to occur again."

The steamer Belle arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong and Yokohama yesterday. Among the passengers were Li Ching Fong, son of Si Hung Chang, Chinese Consul-General at San Francisco, and Chou Shu Yung, Chinese Consul-General at Hong Kong. The steamer was crowded with passengers, and the Chinese Consul-General at San Francisco, and Chou Shu Yung, Chinese Consul-General at Hong Kong, were among the passengers.

At the recent celebration of the seventy-fifth birthday of "Richelieu" Robinson by his friends in Brooklyn, there were many reminiscences of his career here since he came over from Ireland in 1836. He has been an editor, a poet, a Congressman, a lecturer, an internal revenue assessor, a college of Horace Greeley in the New York Tribune, and always a champion of the Irish people. He organized the movement for the relief of Ireland in 1847, and procured the authorization of Congress of the sending of the frigate Macedonian there with provisions for the famine-stricken.

The New York Sun says that when John Most was accused of being a fop and an aristocrat by his fellow-Anarchists at their recent last Sunday, the evidence in support of the charge was not brought out. As a matter of fact, Citizen Most, when not wearing the garb of a convict, is apt to be somewhat tidy in his attire. It is a long time since he was a hony-boned fop. He was a poet, a Congressman, a lecturer, an internal revenue assessor, a college of Horace Greeley in the New York Tribune, and always a champion of the Irish people. He organized the movement for the relief of Ireland in 1847, and procured the authorization of Congress of the sending of the frigate Macedonian there with provisions for the famine-stricken.

One of the oddest typographical errors ever made in Boston was in a book published by the firm of Crocker & Brewster, which has just been brought to public attention by the Boston Herald. It was in one of the sermons of Dr. Nathaniel Emmons, a divine. The Doctor quoted the Scripture text: "Cut him down. Why cumbereth he the ground?" The intelligent compositor put it in type: "Cut it down, like a cucumber, to the ground."

During the past week there was a convention of the Daughters of America in Shenandoah, Pa. A number of delegates registered at the Merchants' Hotel. Four who hailed from Reading were given one spacious room. The next morning one of them said they had had little sleep, that they did not know how to extinguish the electric lights, and as a last resort had opened their umbrellas and slept with their heads under them.

Herman Weiler, a prominent citizen of Evansville, Ind., received a telegram Monday from a friend, Henry, stating that he had been arrested at Pleasant Valley Junction, Utah, on suspicion that he was Tascott, the Chicago murderer. The picture of Tascott bears a remarkable resemblance to Weiler. An officer started to take Weiler yesterday with proof that the prisoner is not the man wanted.

Samuel L. Farmer, of Henderson, Jefferson

County, N. Y., has invented a boat which, he claims, can be rowed faster than any now in use. On the 17th inst. it was used, which is thrust through the middle of the boat, somewhat after the fashion of a centre-board. The boat is propelled by working the oar backward and forward. The leverage obtained is enormous and the inventor says that a small boy could row a boat can beat a professional oarsman in a shell.

In the United States Circuit Court at Utica, N. Y., yesterday, in the cases of Frank M. Hays, receiver of the First National Bank of Auburn, against William H. Shoemaker, and of the same plaintiff against six other defendants, Judge Cox handed down decisions in favor of the defendants. The suits were brought to recover assessments made by the Controller against the shareholders of the Bank.

While on his Western trip, General Sherman authorized General Cook to offer a prize of $100 for the best essay on Fort Leavenworth's influence on the settlement of that part of America. He gave it as his opinion that Fort Leavenworth has exerted more influence and assistance on the settlement and civilization of the country west of the Missouri River than any other post during the last 50 years.

While Lieutenant Governor Melkeljohn was bathing in the Cedar River with a friend named W. H. Paton, near Fullerton, Neb., Sunday, the latter got beyond his depth and was drowned. Lieutenant Governor Melkeljohn came near sharing his friend's fate in attempting to rescue him. He is delicious, but it is believed he will recover.

Discovery has been made that a farm directly west of Topeka, Kan., contains a fine bed of terra cotta. Heals in New Jersey and Ohio have prior to this time, furnished all the terra cotta works with clay. This industry, when properly developed, will be worth to the City about $500,000 annually.

The Pittsburgh Law and Order League, which is trying to stop the Sunday sale of cigars, is coming to a new and more active campaign. They will sell them to all who drop a nickel in the slot. The first machine was started last Sunday, but worked awkwardly for a while, throwing out a whole box of cigars for a nickel.

Patrick Crotty, an old homeless man, was found dead in a lay-stall in the barn at Tully, Mass., yesterday. He was found by a farmer, and was completely wedged in and suffocated. The body could not be removed without taking the neck apart.

An explosion of gas took place yesterday afternoon in Shaft 14 at the Port Blanche Colliery, near Newcastle, Nova Scotia. Coal Company. Five miners, named Barrett, Harris, Dougher, McDonald, and an unknown Hungarian, were badly burned, the first three, it is said, fatally.

The Cathedral bells were rung in New York on Monday evening for the first time. They are peals of bells, and were said to be the finest bells in the country. The first weighs 3,030 pounds, the second 1,595 pounds, the third 815 pounds and the fourth 380 pounds. They hang just 160 feet above the pavement of Fifth-avenue.

The tramways of Lyons, France, at present worked by horse power, are hereafter to be run by the Melskari system of compressed air, which has been found to work satisfactorily in Nantes and other French cities. The cost of coal consumed is equal to eight to 10-horse power per day.

"Let Mr. Ruskin and his sympathizers take heed of great things," says the New York Graphic. "The impression left by the reports of the examinations in the Science and Art Department is that the progress in popular artistic education is more solid than in science."

The organ of the Vatican, the Osservatore Romano, says that the Pope should be forced to exalt himself from any power, but would merely accept a temporary hospitality, as he would certainly return to Rome before long.

Jordan Blair, of Montrose, Pa., is a colored man possessed of remarkable courage. He was afflicted with cancer of his leg and foot, and the doctors said he would die if he performed amputation. Blair thereupon cut off his leg with a jack-knife and is now limping along the road to recovery on a crutch.

There was a recent case to confirm the rule of the English law that persons getting their hands crushed by the slamming of railway carriage doors cannot recover damages. The doors are meant to be shut, and passengers must look out for them.

An unusual movement of Russian troops is said to be in progress between the Turkish frontier and Kutais, in the Caucasus. The Russian troops are said to be moving in the direction of the Turkish frontier, and are said to be moving in the direction of the Turkish frontier.

A Large Sum Drawn in a Lottery—Contested Land Claim Decision in Oklahoma—What General Boulanger & Co. Have "Disclaimed"—Movement of Russian Troops.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times writes: "The largest sum ever won in an Austrian lottery has fallen to a resident in Vienna, whose name is not yet known, but who has to have won 480,000 florins, about $28,000, in a State lottery drawn in Temesvar on Saturday. The fortunate gambler invested in what is called the Small Loto, an institution which keeps open in every town, and is very popular with the lower classes. The play merely consists in picking a number, or series of numbers, and a sum as small as 20 kreutzers, or five pence, may be staked. The winner of Saturday, however, who is described as an elderly-dressed young man of about 40, risked from 1,500 florins to 2,000 florins, in backing five numbers, and 10 different combinations of those numbers, which he won on each single number being 10 florins. He stood on his legs all the figures turning up in the order chosen by him. It happened that all his combinations were drawn, and he became entitled to win 48,000 florins on each of his 10 bets, or five figures. As the tickets were bought in Vienna, the Government will have to pay the money, although the lottery was drawn in Hungary. The largest sum ever paid before for a single ticket in the Small Loto was 900 florins, and the amount of the present win has, of course, rendered it impossible for the lottery offices in Vienna to cash the tickets on presentation. It is generally supposed that the winners have to be obtained in a special credit from the Minister of Finance. The event has, of course, occasioned great excitement in Vienna, and is not likely to diminish the popularity for lottery movements."

"We have disclaimed," says General Boulanger, Count Dillon, and M. Rochefort in their manifesto, "to reply to the absurd calumnies concocted by Ministers who have been convicted of perjury. Our abstention from this odious comedy is not justified by the indignation of attempts to extort from officers of the army lying denunciations of their former chief. These suborners of witnesses have no hesitations to employ the taxpayers' money to obtain false depositions from jail-birds in their very cells at Mazas. These are the miserable prevaricators who accuse their former Minister of War with corruption. Public opinion has not only condemned, and the justice of the country will speedily overtake these malefactors. They appealed to the Penal Code, but the outcome of their infamous machinations was that they could win only the contempt of the public. If they could have obtained the most trivial proof, they would not thus have risked the Assize Court by negotiating with forgers. It is for us, dear fellow-countrymen, to judge between us and these thieves. We wait with confidence your sentence, from which these bandits, who feel its approach, vainly endeavor to escape."

J. Lillie, Register, and J. Barnes, Receiver, of the Land Grant in Guthrie, O. T., have rendered a decision in the first claimant case in Oklahoma. The evidence in the case showed that there were three claimants in the quarter-section adjacent to the Santa Fe Railroad right of way in Oklahoma City. The first was Deputy United States Marshal White, who was on the ground in his official capacity at noon the day Oklahoma was opened, and he staked his claim at 12:01 p. m. C. J. Blum was on the Santa Fe Railroad right of way as an employee of the company. At noon he stepped on the quarter and drove his stake. Vestal Cook was in the Chickasaw Nation at noon, but with four children who supplied him with relays of horses, he reached the quarter-section at 1 o'clock and asserted his claim. Messrs. Lillie and Barnes held that all of the persons named violated the laws governing the occupation of the lands by homesteaders; that none of them are entitled to the quarter in question, and that they have forfeited all rights to take and hold homesteads in the Indian Territory.

The New York Sun says: "Observations of the stars were made in Babylon from remote antiquity, and careful records kept of eclipses. Some of the Babylonian astronomical statements refer to a period earlier than 7,000 B. C. The records of the Babylonians believed that the changes which occurred in the sky were simply a reflection of what was going on in this world; for instance, if any event took place upon the earth during the conjunction of two stars, when the same conjunction occurred again it would simply be a sign that the same event was again occurring upon earth. The priests therefore foretold the future by observing the conditions of the heavenly bodies and relaying their records to know what terrestrial events were bound to accompany them. Copies of these lists of omens from which the predictions were made by the Babylonians down to the time of the fall of the city, were preserved in the library of the Babylonians also believed in the existence of a cosmical year, consisting of 360,000 ordinary years, at the end of which all past events were to occur again."

The New-York Sun says that when John Most was accused of being a Pop and an aristocrat, his fellow-Anarchist at the prison, Utah, on Sunday, the evidence in support of the charge was not brought out. As a matter of fact, Citizen Most, when not wearing the garb of a convict, is apt to be somewhat odd in his attire. He is a long, thin, spare man with a horny-handed toiler. ## THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

MILDEW HAS CAUSED THE FRUIT TO SELL BADLY.

The Returns Received by "The Freeman" To-day from the Principal Producers Along the Hudson River and Inland—Loss Exceeds One-Fourth of Last Year's Yield.

For the first time since the business of growing Concord grapes for market has assumed large proportions, the crop promises to be a partial failure in many localities.

Returns received from the principal points along the Hudson River and inland show that mildew is seriously affecting the fruit. The green "berries" have shelled very badly, in places the ground beneath the vine being almost covered with them. The mildew is attributed to the continued wet weather, and, when rain has not fallen, to the intense humidity of the atmosphere.

The estimate of the losses in detail show that mildew has wrought greater havoc at points inland than it has at points along shore. At Cliftondale, New-Paltz, Modena, Plattkill Valley, Gardiner, Roseton, Walkkill and elsewhere along the Walkkill and Rondout Valleys, the producers estimate the loss at from 35 to 50 per cent. At Cornwall, town of Newburgh, Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Esopus, near Saengerfest, Catskill, Coxsack and Coeymans, on the west side of the Hudson, the loss in the aggregate is 30 per cent. There are instances in which vineyards are injured 80 per cent, but a fair average is about 35. On the east side at Fishkill, Poughkeepsie, Hyde Park, Staatsburgh, Poughkeepsie, Tivoli, Germantown and at other points the aggregate loss is 24 per cent.

The loss by mildew will be partly offset by the hundreds of new acres of fruit which will come in full bearing this fall for the first time. It is a fact, however, that the loss in the aggregate loss has shelled just as badly as in the past.

Speculators and interested dealers are trying to make it appear that the Concord grape crop is a total failure. This is an old game of theirs, which sometimes has resulted to their pecuniary profit. To sum the situation up in brief it can be stated that the crop will be fully one-fourth less than was expected, and that the fruit will not be so symmetrically formed in clusters as in previous years.

Wine-makers who had made arrangements to make wine, on the supposition formed in June that the producers would have more Concord than they could find a market for, have largely abandoned the field for this season.

The blackberry, and huckleberry crops in Ulster, Orange, Greene and Sullivan counties are large. Apples in the Hudson River counties generally will not do as well as was expected in June. The moist atmosphere is said to be causing the fruit to drop off the trees. Other fruits, grapes excepted, yet to ripen promise to yield average crops.

The Lawton blackberry, big, fat and juicy, is in the market.

THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

MILDEW HAS CAUSED THE FRUIT TO SHEL BADLY.

The Returns Received by "The Freeman" To-day from the Principal Producers Along the Hudson River and Inland—Loss Exceeds One-Fourth of Last Year's Yield.

For the first time since the business of growing Concord grapes for market has assumed large proportions, the crop promises to be a partial failure in many localities.

Returns received from the principal points along the Hudson River and inland show that mildew is seriously affecting the fruit. The green "berries" have shelled very badly, in places the ground beneath the vine being almost covered with them. The mildew is at tributed to the continued wet weather, and when rain has not fallen, to the intense humidity of the atmosphere.

The estimate of the losses in detail show that mildew has wrought greater havoc at points inland than it has at points along shore. At Cliftondale, New-Paltz, Modena, Plattkill Valley, Gardiner, Roseton, Walkkill and elsewhere along the Walkill and Rondout Valleys, the producers estimate the loss at from 35 to 50 per cent. At Cornwall, town of Newburgh, Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Esopus, near Saugerties, Catskill, Cox-sackie and Coeymans, on the west side of the Hudson, the loss in the aggregate is 30 per cent. There are instances in which vines are injured 80 per cent, but a fair average is about 35. On the east side at Fishkill, Poughkeepsie, Hyde Park, Staatsburgh, Rhinebeck, Tivoli, Germantown and at other points the aggregate loss is 34 per cent.

The loss by mildew will be partly offset by the hundreds of new acres of fruit which will come in full bearing this fall for the first time. It is a fact, however, that the fruits in the new vineyards have shelled just as badly as in the old.

Speculators and interested dealers are trying to make it appear that the Concord grape crop is a total failure. This is an old game of theirs, which sometimes has resulted to their pecuniary profit. To sum the situation up in brief it can be stated that the crop will be fully one-fourth less than was expected, and that the fruit will not be so symmetrically formed in clusters as in previous years.

Wine-makers who had made arrangements to make wine, on the supposition formed in June that the producers would have more Concord than they could find a market for, have largely abandoned the field for this season.

The blackberry, and huckleberry crops in Ulster, Orange, Green and Sullivan counties are large. Apples in the Hudson River counties generally will not do as well as was expected in June. The moist atmosphere is said to be causing the fruit to drop off the trees. Other fruits, grapes excepted, yet to ripen promise to yield average crops.

The lawn blackberry, big, fat and juicy, is in the market.

THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

MILDEW HAS CAUSED THE FRUIT TO SHELL BADLY.

The Returns Received by "The Freeman" To-Day from the Principal Producers Along the Hudson River and Inland—Loss Exceeds One-Fourth of Last Year's Yield.

For the first time since the business of growing Concord grapes for market has assumed large proportions, the crop promises to be a partial failure in many localities.

Returns received from the principal points along the Hudson River and inland show that mildew is seriously affecting the fruit. The green "berries" have shelled very badly, in places the ground beneath the vine being almost covered with them. The mildew is attributed to the continued wet weather, and when rain has not fallen, to the intense humidity of the atmosphere.

The estimate of the losses in detail show that mildew has wrought greater havoc at points inland than it has at points along shore. At Cliftondale, New-Paltz, Modena, Plattburgh, Valley, Gardiner, Roseton, Walkkill and elsewhere along the Walkkill and Rondout Valleys, the producers estimate the loss at from 35 to 50 per cent. At Cornwall, town of Newburgh, Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Esopus, near Saugerties, Catskill, Cox-sackie and Coeymans, on the west side of the Hudson, the loss in the aggregate is 30 per cent. There are instances in which vines are injured 80 per cent, but a fair average is about 35. On the east side at Fishkill, Poughkeepsie, Hyde Park, Staatsburgh, Rhinebeck, Tivoli, Germantown and at other points the loss is less. The loss by mildew will be partly offset by the hundreds of new acres of fruit which will come in full bearing this fall for the first time. It is a fact, however, that the fruits produced by vines which have shelled just as badly as in the old.

Speculators and interested dealers are trying to make it appear that the Concord grape crop is a total failure. This is an old game of theirs, which sometimes has resulted to their pecuniary profit. To sum the situation up in brief it can be stated that the crop will be fully one-fourth less than was expected, and that the fruit will not be so symmetrical as formerly. The vines in previous years, all formed in clusters as in previous years.

Wine-makers who had made arrangements to make wine, on the supposition formed in June that the producers would have more Concord than they could find a market for, have largely abandoned the field for this season.

The blackberry, and huckleberry crops in Ulster, Concord, Greene and Sullivan counties are largely ruined. In the Hudson River county generally will not do as well as was expected in June. The moist atmosphere is said to be causing the fruit to drop off the trees. Other fruits, grapes excepted, yet to ripen promise to yield average crops.

The Lawton blackberry, big, fat and juicy, is in the market.
